CROSS REFERENCE TO CO-PENDING APPLICATIONS

This application is co-pending with U.S. Application 60/326,062, Serial No. 09/999,524, filed October 23, 2001, and entitled "DOCUMENT STORAGE AND CLASSIFICATION", now U.S. Patent 7,054,841, issued May 30, 2006, and U.S. Application 60/326,071, Serial No. 10/002,433, filed October 23, 2001, and entitled "ORDER ACCEL EMTION THROUGH USER DOCUMENTSTOMGE AND REUSE."

3.2. Please amend claims 28, 30 and 42 as follow:

28. (Currently Amended) A computer-implemented system for past transaction document storage and reuse, the method comprising:

means for storing a plurality of transaction documents, each transaction document associated with a past transaction and at least portions of each transaction document capable of being used to facilitate a transaction with one or more sellers;

means for organizing a plurality of classes organized in a hierarchy, each class categorizing the transaction documents and associated with one or more of the transaction documents categorized in the class;

means for searching for particular transaction documents by:

selecting one or more of the classes; and communicating a search query for the particular transaction documents to one or more document repositories identified by one or more pointers associated with the one or more selected classes; and means for removing, in response to selection of a transaction document by a party who was not a party to the past transaction associated with the transaction document, from the selected transaction document information specific to the past transaction and creating a generic document capable of being used to facilitate a future transaction with at least one of the sellers from the selected transaction document stored in the one or more document repositories; and means for encrypting at least a portion of the selected information in the selected transaction document made inaccessible in the generic document.

30. (Currently Amended) A computer-implemented An electronic commerce system for third party document reuse of past transaction documents, documents comprising one or more processing units the system comprising:

one or more document repositories storing a plurality of transaction documents each associated with a past transaction of a party to the transaction document and at least portions of each transaction document capable of being used to facilitate a transaction with one or more of the parties to the transaction document;

a global content directory including a plurality of classes organized in a hierarchy, each class categorizing the transaction documents and associated with one or more attributes of the transaction documents categorized in the class, at least one of the classes having one or more associated pointers that identify one or more document repositories;

an intelligence module operable to, in response to selection of a transaction document by a party who was not a party to the past transaction associated with the transaction document, remove from the selected transaction document information specific to the past transaction and create a generic document capable of being used to facilitate a future transaction with at least one of the parties from the selected transaction document stored in the one or more document repositories;

a security module associated with the global content directory, the security module operable to encrypt at least a portion of the selected information in the selected transaction document thereby making it inaccessible in the generic document; and a search interface operable to communicate a search query for transaction documents to one or more document repositories identified by one or more pointers associated with one or more selected classes.

42. (Currently Amended) Software for past transaction document storage and reuse, the software embodied in a computer-readable storage medium and when executed operable to:

store a plurality of transaction documents in one or more document repositories, each transaction document associated with a past transaction and at least portions of each transaction document capable of being used to facilitate a transaction with one or more sellers;

associate the transaction documents with a global content directory, the global content directory including a plurality of classes organized in a hierarchy, each class categorizing the transaction documents and associated with one or more of the transaction documents categorized in the class;

communicate a search query for transaction documents to one or more document repositories identified by one or more pointers associated with one or more selected classes; and remove, in response to selection of a transaction document by a party who was not a party to the past transaction associated with the transaction document, from the selected transaction document information specific to the past transaction and create a generic document capable of being used to facilitate a future transaction with at least one of the sellers from the selected transaction document stored in the one or more document repositories; and encrypt at least a portion of the selected information in the selected transaction document thereby making it inaccessible in the generic document.

Reasons For Allowance

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

In the Examiner's Office Action for non-Final Rejection of April 12, 2006, 35 U.S.C. 35 U.S.C. § 103, rejections was based on primary references, Hess et al.: U.S. Patent 6,732,161, "INFORMATION PRESENTATION AND MANAGEMENT IN AN ONLINE TRADING ENVIRONMENT", filed November 9, 1999, hereafter "Hess"; and in view of

Keller et al.: U.S. Patent Application Publication 2003/0050958, “SUPPLIER/RESELLER INTERACTION”, filed September 10, 2001, hereafter “Keller”.

In the response filed on June 30, 2006, the Applicant argued that the Hess and Keller references, individually or in combination, mainly fail to teach the following three features of claimed subject matter, i.e., third party reuse of past transaction documents; from the selected transaction document removing information in the sections specific to the past transaction to create the generic document capable of being used to facilitate the future transaction; and encrypting a portion of the selected information in the selected transaction.

After a thorough search for the prior art conducted on EAST database and domains (NPL-ACM, Google, NPL-IEEE), and a detailed examination of search result, the Examiner is persuaded that the prior art searched and made of record does not teach the combined subject matter as listed below and described in each of the independent claims 30, 35, 42 and 28, respectively.

third party reuse of past transaction documents whose portion is capable of facilitating transaction; removing information in the sections specific to the past transaction, from the selected transaction document, to create the generic document capable of being used to facilitate the future transaction; and encrypting a portion of the selected information in the selected transaction

After a further review of the above consideration and an update search conducted as described above, the claims 30, 35, 42 and 28 as amended on August 9, 2006 is hereby considered and accepted.

The dependent Claims in the groups (2-8, 10-11 and 29), (13-19 and 32-34) and (21-27 and 38-41), depending claims 30, 35 and 42, respectively, also distinct from the prior art for the same reason.

5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
